Double Patenting

1. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

2. Claims 20-56 are rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-48 of U.S. Patent No. 6,095,985. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the claims of the present application are obvious over the claims of the parent patent.

3. Claims 20-56 are rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-17 of U.S. Patent No. 5,778,882. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the claims of the present application are obvious over the claims of the parent patent.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

5. Claims 20-27,28-31,33,36,41-45,47-56 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Dahlstrom et al (article titled 'Patient Computers to Enhance Compliance with Completing Questionnaires').

The above article describes a device that allows for subjective input to questions using a MiniDoc. Page 234 of the article states that a 'time tag' is given to every recording, which is considered to be analogous to a time base as set forth in the claims. The page also describes the connection to a modem, as well as the use of other physiological sensors. Page 235 teaches that the device gives a picture of the human body so that the location of the experienced pain can be input. Page 236 teaches that data collected can be sent to a clinical database via modem. The Dahlstrom article is considered to encompass all of the structure of the above claims. That is, the device could allow for the input of a wide variety of information, including mood, sleep etc. since the basic structure would be the same.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

56 7. Claims ~~27~~ 32,34,35,37-40,46 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Dahlstrom in view of Carr (article titled 'The Point of the Pen', Laptop Technologies, 1991).

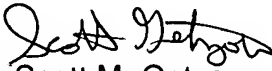

The Carr article describes using a stylus and writing information on a portable data logger. To have that ability with the device of Dahlstrom would have been obvious since such allows for a more natural input of data and captures information not able to be captured using traditional input methods.
